The seven captives

Two of Lebanon's "forgotten seven" have been missing longer than the 444 days in 1979-1981 that 52 U.S. citizens were held captive in Iran. The seven:

William Buckley, 500 days: 56, political officer at U.S. Embassy in Beirut. Unmarried.

The Rev. Benjamin Weir, 449 days: 61, Presbyterian minister. Married, three children.

Peter Kilburn, 245 days: 61, librarian at American University. Unmarried.

The Rev. Martin Jence, 204 days: 50, head of Catholic Relief Services. Single.

Terry A. Anderson, 138 days: 37, Associated Press chief Middle East correspondent. Unmarried.

David Jacobsen, 63 days: 54, administrator of American University Hospital. Divorced, three children.

Thomas Sutherland, 50 days: 54, dean of Agriculture Department, American University in Beirut. Married.
